perched in ironwoods
night birds report their chirp verse breaking the quiet

a veil of clouds shrouds the moon with iridescent prismatic black pearl

dry spring zephyrs move through the palo verdes low moon, mars, jupiter

the penny on my roof reflects the light of moon like a silver dime

orion exits
until it swings back eastward in autumn's advent

above the foothills
an egg shaped moon sinks away down in the cool night

tusk moon over buttes an effulgence of silk clouds a scream of quiet

rain clouds clear for a blood orange moon waning over the dark desert hills

ironwood and the saguaro silhouetted against a thin cloud

a great owl in the middle of the road takes flight from my car headlights

no venus no moon no trees moving in the wind quiet still as stars

two red tailed hawks hunt rabbits on the house drive way in the early day

like a perfect chalk circle around the full moon marks approaching rain

earth in spring pushes insects out from the cool sand and stones in the wash

walls of igneous canyons carved in the desert sediment and clay

hawk lands on highway lamp post this afternoon with out secret service

the advent of Spring animals flowers and mice you can hear the owls

meteor flicks quick like a quantum particle inside a vacuum

in the 3am
the push and pull of the winds stars hit peak at dawn

moon holding Earth-shine low over the dark hillside a pristine spring night

the owl ghost star and jupiter set west mars high and faint above town

moon sets west now red as mars 3am hour of the gods and stars

collapse on your lap moon sets west like blood in dirt dream alert tonight

moon slips behind the black clouds with mars and airplane time to go back in

geometrical cosmic tag the whole night sky a big line drawing

leaving a giant wriggling worm a sky glow worm winds over the trail

aphids appear to circumnavigate the edge of a candle's glass

loving the light two aphids the color of lime battle the light breeze

dance on the surface of a smartphone's glare and do a little boogie

on the roof in the hour of god mars trucks west pulls the milky way

the aphids are now wearing parkas because it is so god damn cold

skies open up the heavens there is a gentle breeze blowing tonight

collective light from a billion years hits the back of our open eyes

there was a time to remember lean back the head and dream of the day

a meteor drops answering brilliant in the east over the hills

dark new moon tonight dipper mars jupiter hang out now a slight breeze

the winds blow through the dark mighty evening and now I must go to sleep

weird when you start to shine a flashlight everywhere the cool wind will cease

a gem in my beak from the rubble you leave has planted a new day

moonlight 3am
just me and the nature noise across the desert

jupiter sails west moon saturn mars lifting east sacred silent night

a world without the animal is a coffin of sirens screaming

full passover moon next jupiter to the east then falling star west

rich scent of mesquite sage and acacia tree Ho'hokam grass too

indigenous trees grow upside down serpent holds the moon in its mouth

wild fires burn in the north woods the invincible trickster of fury

Dali Lama is not here he's over the hill crimson crescent moon

should be nice tonight the moon glow grows chasing west jupiter north west

in the last two nights you could see the fingers of the old milky way

slow red moon sets west May wild flowers bring June wild fires burn for months

couldn't sleep much last night with out the power this morning I woke up

mars skates over the city lights glow dipper dive bombs in the dark west

in the sandwich of the evening a gun metal sky mars moon sets west

skeleton light years 3 o'god in the morning bloody stained half moon

all night dreaming of bright angels in the millions ascending my spine

into the heaven
of my brain in the morning the sun wakes me up

the sun the big sun waiting Memorial Day phoenix bright hot light

homeless head for Flag rich head for San Diego the rest of us sleep

moon waxes gibbous courting mars stage south south west in gun metal sky

when the night birds sing earlier some ants battled in the cool kitchen

driving all life in a circadian rhythm
there is no escape

there was a reason he wore a blood stained toga Komodo dragon

mars hovers over a wolf spider on flagstone wind stirs desert dirt

moon hangs in cobweb clouds over Superstitions a cream glow smearing

2 am breezes all wild life shrugs heavens clouds hearts silence rises

her orchestra is leaving nothing but muses of eternity

womb moon in space-time now free in cloudless night sky tiny planes blink out

moon rising through strands of clouds breaking through the east crescent moon moves low

cassiopeia
low in the north sky tonight jupiter moon dusk

saturn mars south by south west vega above my head a shooting star

moon saturn south now over ghost clouds of satin ironwood shadows

morning cool breezes birds chirp doves coo airplanes land air brakes squeak gate slams

3am hour moon, stars, trees, helicopter cool, calm and silent

still no animals eating each other alive no planes in the sky

no helicopters no sirens no distant groan of last call traffic

the owl drops from a canopy of cottonwoods claws a bird to death

blood orange moon sinks west taking jupiter out mars south with saturn

jupiter rising from the east a full flower blue moon and saturn

mind tagged with song of memory quiet falls from deep space the heart beats

june new moon blue sky fresh heat people meet light air wind in hair bare feet

walking talking in to the mist of the threshold of the summer time

lightning flies midnight bird songs saguaro blooms doves loom clouds plume from north

half moon heading west jupiter near mid summit in a soup of billions

dark matter and light from times before earth began above the desert

breezy cool evening the invisible invites through the sigh song trees

the saguaro blooms tuning forks stand food for doves eons of monsoons

in the lightning blasts the saguaro boils to death leaving long glass roots

last days of may mars rises east chases saturn chases jupiter

soon to be june with her blue white skies and damning hell hot heat hits streets

look east mars rises then saturn jupiter near moon and arcturus
